

STATE BAR of TEXAS

EXECUTIVE DIRECTOR'S REPORT

October 15, 2009

Professional Liability Insurance Disclosure — This week, the State Bar Board of Directors began holding public hearings across the state on whether lawyers should be required to disclose to clients whether or not they have professional liability insurance. The Supreme Court of Texas has asked the State Bar to study the issue and make a formal recommendation to the Court by February 2010. The State Bar's officers and directors are listening to members' comments and concerns. The Board is working to ensure that all Texas lawyers are aware of the issue and that they have the opportunity to provide input. On a short timeframe, directors worked with staff to distribute letters to all of their constituents. Public hearings this week include San Antonio (Oct. 14), Harlingen (Oct. 15), and Houston (Oct. 16). Subsequent hearings will take place in El Paso, Dallas, Lubbock, and Austin. For a list of specific times and locations, as well as for background materials, visit www.texasbar.com/plidisclosure. Lawyers and members of the public may post comments to Texas Bar Blog, email statebarpresident@texasbar.com, or send written comments to State Bar of Texas, c/o Ray Cantu, P.O. Box 12487, Austin, TX 78711-2487. The Board of Directors will vote to make a recommendation to the Court during the Board's January 2010 meeting.
