DEAN, TEXAS A&M UNIVERSITY SCHOOL OF LAW, FORT WORTH, TEXAS—Texas A&M University invites nominations and applications for the position of Dean of the Texas A&M University School of Law. The desired appointment date is July 1, 2014. Texas A&M University is a nationally-ranked, Tier 1 research university. It is the flagship institution of the Texas A&M University System, the fourth-largest university in the United States, and the largest university in Texas. Consistent with its Vision 2020 goal to be recognized as one of the ten best public universities in the nation, Texas A&M University added the first public law school in North Texas to its list of prestigious graduate institutions on August 13, 2013 when it acquired the ABA-Accredited and AALS-Member Texas Wesleyan University School of Law, which is now the Texas A&M University School of Law. Texas A&M University School of Law is located in downtown Fort Worth, one of the 20 largest cities in the nation. Fort Worth has been voted one of "America's Most Livable Communities" and has a population of nearly 800,000. Just 30 miles separate Fort Worth and Dallas, and the encompassing Fort Worth/Dallas metropolitan area is joined by a number of suburban communities and small towns. The metropolitan area, with a total population in excess of six million people, offers a vibrant legal community supporting extensive federal and state court systems and agencies, including regional branches of the Patent and Trademark Office, the Federal Reserve Bank, the National Labor Relations Board, the Environmental Protection Agency, the Equal Employment Opportunity Commission, and the Securities and Exchange Commission. This metropolitan area also provides affordable housing and a thriving economy. Texas A&M University School of Law is committed to excellence in scholarship, teaching, and public service. With its distinguished faculty of scholars and practitioners who are recognized experts in their field; its nationally ranked advocacy programs in moot court, mock trial, and alternative dispute resolution; its certificate programs in intellectual property, business law, dispute resolution, estate planning, and family law; and its strong supportive network of former students and community partners, Texas A&M University School of Law provides a dynamic opportunity for a visionary leader. That leader can help continue a tradition of excellence while operating with the new support, resources, and opportunities for excellence from a world-class public university. The Dean will provide academic, intellectual, and administrative leadership, helping to shape and advance Texas A&M University's vision of transcendent excellence in research, teaching, and service. In addition, the Dean will have responsibilities for creating strong relationships with the North Texas community, alumni, and the broader legal profession. Candidates must have a juris doctorate degree and be qualified for appointment at the tenured rank of Professor. Applications are welcomed from individuals whose experience has prepared them to make strong contributions to diversity, inclusion, and innovation in higher education and to further Texas A&M University's mission of educational preeminence. A mature understanding of the working dynamics of a law school within the parameters of a larger university system is preferred, along with experience in, or aptitude for, administration and fundraising. However, other candidates who hold distinguished records of professional and intellectual leadership or outstanding service to the community will also be considered.

The Search Committee welcomes applications and nominations from interested individuals and also encourages applications and nominations of minorities, women, and other candidates who are traditionally underrepresented at the Dean level. For nominations, the Committee asks that complete contact information be provided for the nominated individual. Applications should include a curriculum vitae and a cover letter including a brief statement of interest. Although the Committee will continue to accept applications until the position is filled, to be given fullest consideration, applications should be received by January 15, 2014. Applications and nominations should be sent to: Texas A&M University Law Dean Search Committee, Texas A&M University School of Law, 1515 Commerce Street, Fort Worth, TX 76102. Electronic submissions are encouraged and should be sent to: deansearch@law.tamu.edu. Texas A&M University is an Equal Opportunity/Affirmative Action Employer. This position is a sensitive position and is subject to a criminal background check. All nominations and applications will be kept confidential. For more details about Texas A&M University School of Law, visit our website description at <http://law.tamu.edu>.
